

Security-availability trade-off collapses to a single dominant point

